How Many Krispy Kremes Can One Kid Eat?

Chairman Greg Cox to Honor Amazing 12-Year Old Journalist

- WHO: Chairman Greg Cox
Danny Stricker, 12-Year Old Journalist
Rachel Brady, Krispy Kreme
- WHAT: Giant Donut Donation to County's Abused and Neglected Kids
- WHEN: Friday, January 17, 2003
1:00 p.m.
- WHERE: Front Entrance of the Polinsky Children's Center
9440 Ruffin Court, San Diego
- WHY: Chairman Greg Cox will recognize 12-year old journalist Danny Stricker for his generosity in donating a year's worth of Krispy Kreme donuts to abused and neglected kids at the County's Polinsky Children's Center.

Danny received the donuts in lieu of payment for advertising on his journalistic website, www.dannyskidspage.com.

As a freelance reporter, Danny has used his notoriety in interviewing celebrities such as Mike Wallace, Rudy Giuliani, Tony Gwynn and Sally Ride to generate support for a variety of charitable causes. Earlier this year, he donated 24,750 Jelly Belly beans to St. Vincent de Paul Village.
